

Healing of a Demon-possessed Man

Scripture Reference: Mark 5:1-20

Suggested Theme: Jesus is more powerful than Satan. He loves and wants to rescue people from Satan's attacks.

Memory Verse: "But the Lord is faithful. He will give you strength and protect you from the Evil One." 2 Thessalonians 3:3, ICB

Story Overview:

For many people, a deranged wild man who lived in a cemetery would be someone to avoid. Instead of ignoring the man's suffering, Jesus saw beyond the man's outward condition. In an event very foreign to us today, Jesus actually spoke to the evil spirits inside the man and sent them out of the man and into a herd of pigs. The pigs then ran over a cliff to their death. Satan caused the man hurt by sending evil spirits to live inside of him. Jesus had mercy on the man and used His superior power to help him.

Background Study:

(You can also read about this story in Matthew 8:28-34 and Luke 8:26-39)

If this were a movie, then the opening scene would be gripping! It is the middle of the night. Jesus and the disciples have just been through a terrible storm. The disciples are reeling from the realization that Jesus could just speak to a storm and make it stop. Then, they land the boat near a cemetery, and a naked demon-possessed man (covered in blood and wearing broken chains) runs out, yelling at Jesus.

The region of the Gerasenes was on the opposite side of the Sea of Galilee, from where many of the other stories about Jesus take place. It was a place where many Gentiles (non-Jews) lived. This can be seen in the fact that there was a huge herd of pigs nearby (verse 11). Jews did not eat pork because God had declared it unclean, so they did not raise them.

Another thing that was unclean was a tomb. Jews were not supposed to be near dead bodies. The fact that this man came to them out of the tombs reveals how different he was from them. He was an unclean man living in an unclean place surrounded by unclean animals. His reputation was so bad that even the Gentiles in the nearby town had cast him out. This man lived a pathetic life. Being possessed by demons had ruined his life.

Matthew's account mentions two demon-possessed men. Mark and Luke only mention one, so perhaps one of the men is the more outspoken, and one stands back.

The demons that lived in the man used the man's voice to address Jesus. Even demons recognise the power of God, and the demons use the name of God in a vain attempt to protect themselves. A Roman legion is a military group made up of 6000 men, which indicates the large number of demons possessing him.

The power of Jesus is seen in His ability to converse with powers of darkness that we humans cannot even see. He commanded the demons to transfer into the herd of nearby pigs. The pigs ran into the sea and drowned. Perhaps this was a final end instead of an “eternal darkness” (Luke 8:31).

This whole encounter was an amazing thing to watch. The ones who had been tending the pigs would have been very confused in the least. They rushed to tell everyone in town. The people from town had seen the demon-possessed man many times, but that had not frightened them like the sight of the man, fully clothed and obviously in his right mind.

The town’s people had tried to keep this man away by chaining him up and hiding him away. It is easier to dismiss people or cast them out than it is to actually deal with them and live beside them. This and the fact that Jesus was interrupting their economic stability (pigs) made the people ask Jesus to leave.

Jesus knew that the healed man would be a living example to all of the people. Although the man wanted to go with Jesus, Jesus told the man to go back to his family and tell them all about what the Lord had done for him.

There is more to this universe than what we can actually see. There is a spiritual realm. Undue attention or dramatization of the demonic world could be scary for young children, and yet it is ultimately harmful to leave them ignorant and vulnerable to the attacks of Satan by never mentioning it. Carefully consider the amount of information you give and how you relate it.

- Young children can understand that Satan and his helpers only want to hurt people, and Jesus only wants to help people. Jesus is stronger than Satan. Satan was hurting the man in today’s story, and Jesus made Satan go away.
- Older children are better able to grasp the idea of the unseen world and spiritual warfare. Satan is strong, but Jesus is stronger. The cross was Jesus’ ultimate display of triumph over Satan. In the last days leading up to the cross, Satan seemed to be “sending out his troops” in a vain attempt to show he could still have power over people. During His ministry (and in today’s story), Jesus showed over and over that he could defeat Satan and save people by casting out demons.

“Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his great power. Wear the full armor of God. Wear God’s armor so that you can fight against the devil’s evil tricks. Our fight is not against people on earth. We are fighting against the rulers and authorities and the powers of this world’s darkness. We are fighting against the spiritual powers of evil in the heavenly world.” Ephesians 6:10-12, ICB

“The devil has been sinning since the beginning. Anyone who continues to sin belongs to the devil. The Son of God came for this purpose: to destroy the devil’s work.” 1 John 3:8, ICB

“God defeated the spiritual rulers and powers. With the cross God won the victory and defeated them. He showed the world that they were powerless.” Colossians 2:15, ICB

Jesus knew he had the power to help this man who was in deep pain, and he did. He showed mercy toward him. Help children recognise hurting people around them. Help them plan ways to show mercy to them.

Way to Introduce the Story:

Use any available surface (paper, a chalkboard, whiteboard, or sand) to guide the children in drawing circles. First, all of the children should draw eyes and a mouth in one of their circles to form a happy face. Talk about why this person might be happy. Now have them draw a sad face on another circle. Discuss reasons that might cause this person to be sad. Continue to fill in faces and use them to talk about people who might be in pain, lonely, sick, bullied, etc. These situations should relate to the age and experiences of the children in your class.

Explain that God wants us to have good things in our lives. When we follow God, we can be happy even when bad things happen to us. But Satan wants us to be sad and hurting all of the time. Satan was hurting a man in today's story.

The Story:

It was a very scary night when the boat pulled onto the shore. Jesus and his disciples got off the boat and realized that they were in a cemetery. Would you be afraid if you were in a dark cemetery at night?

Things got even scarier when a man started running out from the cemetery. He was yelling and screaming. He didn't have any clothes on, and there were scratches and blood all over him. The man had broken bits of the chain hanging from his wrists and ankles.

What would you do if you saw someone acting very odd like that? The disciples were frightened, but the man did not come to them. He ran straight up to Jesus and started talking loudly in a possibly very strange voice. The disciples wanted to run away, but Jesus did not. Jesus knew that the reason this man was acting so strange was that Satan had sent evil spirits to live inside of him. He saw how much the man was hurting, and he wanted to help.

This man had no friends. No one in the town wanted him around because he acted very strange. They used to put chains on him and try to keep him away from the town, but the man was very strong, and he broke the chains. He started hiding in the cemetery so no one could find him. He did not act normal. He even used to get pieces of glass and cut himself.

But Jesus wanted to be this man's friend and help him. Jesus could see things that no one else could see. He could see inside the man's heart, and he knew that Satan had sent evil spirits to live inside the man's heart.

But Jesus is stronger than Satan. He knew Satan's mean tricks. No one could see the evil spirits inside the man. No one, that is, except Jesus!

Jesus looked at the man and spoke to the evil spirits inside of him, "What is your name?"

"My name is Legion," the man replied in a very strange voice, "for we are many." The man's voice sounded strange because it was actually the evil spirits who were answering Jesus.

Jesus commanded that the evil spirits leave this man immediately. The evil spirits left the man and went inside of some pigs who were nearby. When this happened, all of the pigs began to act so strangely that they jumped off of a cliff into the sea and died. The owners of the pigs were so amazed that they ran into town to tell everyone what had happened.

The people rushed back to the shore, expecting to see the man still chained up and hurting himself. But that is not what they found. The man did not look unusual at all now. He was wearing clean clothes and acting completely normal. He was sitting quietly, talking to Jesus.

When Jesus and his disciples got back on the boat to leave, the man tried to get in the boat too.

"No," Jesus told him, "Go back to your family and tell them all of the wonderful things God has done for you today."

The man did just as Jesus said. He went back to his family and told them about God. He told them how Satan only wanted to hurt him. Jesus was only good and didn't want people to be hurt. Jesus was and is stronger than Satan.

Ways to Tell the Story:

This story can be told using various methods. Always remain true to the facts found in the Bible, but help children connect to its meaning by using drama, visual aids, voice inflection or other group participation.

Be selective. Each teacher is unique, so only use the illustrations that best relate to how YOU tell the story in THIS lesson. Too many illustrations can be confusing, so eliminate any that cover other stories or details you do not wish to emphasise in this lesson.

Review and Reflection Questions:

Review questions help children remember and know the facts of a story. Reflection questions encourage them to internalise the meaning and implications for their lives. Asking at least one of each type of question can help strengthen a child's spiritual development and help them connect to God. Click here to learn more about review and reflection questions.

Review:

- Where did the man possessed by evil spirits live? (In a cemetery (tombs))
- What did the demon-possessed man tear off of his hands and feet? (Chains)
- Where did the evil spirits go when Jesus cast them out? (Into a herd of pigs)
- When Jesus cast the evil spirits into the herd of pigs, what then happened to the pigs? (They ran off a cliff into the water and drowned)
- What did the demon-possessed man want to do after Jesus cast out the demons? (Follow Jesus)
- When the people in the town saw that the man was healed and the pigs had drowned, what did they do? (Begged Jesus to leave their region)
- What did Jesus tell the man to do instead of going with Him in the boat? (Go home and tell everyone what Jesus did for him)
- Why did the demons leave the man? (Jesus commanded them to leave. Jesus's power is greater than any demon or evil spirit)
- What did you learn about Jesus from this story?

Reflection:

- Have you ever been in a cemetery or tomb? What is it like? How did you feel there?
- Do you think the disciples were surprised that Jesus stayed and helped the demon-possessed man instead of staying away from him? Why or why not?
- If you were one of the disciples, how would you have felt when you saw the demon-possessed man? How would you have felt when Jesus was talking to the impure spirits and healing the demon-possessed man?
- How do you think the demon-possessed man felt after Jesus cast the demons out of him?

- Why do you think Jesus told the man to go home and tell everyone about what He had done for him, instead of letting the man go with him in the boat?
- Do you think the disciples were surprised that Jesus could heal and help this man, or not?
- Have you heard about demons or evil spirits before?
- When have you seen or heard about God doing something powerful?
- What should we remember if we ever see or experience something with evil spirits? (Jesus can protect us. We can pray to Him and ask Him to protect us in His name)
- What question would you ask God about this story?

Prayer:

It is important to guide children in learning how to pray. In prayer, children can connect with God and learn that He hears and answers them. God can become a life-long friend who is with them every moment of their lives. Try using a variety of prayer methods from time to time so that the children can learn to connect with God in different ways. Note that you can pray at any time throughout your lesson. Activities:

- Divide a paper into two columns. Label one at the top as "Jesus and God" and the other as "Satan and evil spirits." Lead the children in contrasting the two columns. In light of today's story, the discussion should highlight the power God has over Satan and the fact that he wants to love and protect us while Satan only wants to hurt us. Some helpful verses for the discussion might be:
- Jesus had mercy on the man and helped him. Guide the children in thinking of situations in which they could show mercy to someone who was hurting.
Click here for instructions.
 - On individual index cards or pieces of paper, write various scenarios or situations typical to the ages of the children in your group. There should be one scenario on each card. (Examples might be: a child has been bullied at school, my friend's mother died, a boy's dog is missing, a girl on the playground fell off the top of the slide and is crying, or there is a new kid in my class at school.)

- Turn the cards face down on a table and let children take turns drawing the cards.
- After drawing the card, the child reads the scenario written on it and then describes how they would help the person in that situation.
- Play a simple word game. Bible Wordz Game is an adaptable game where children form words from letter tiles. The words relate to words found in the Bible lesson.
