

Pass the Parcel Game

This great kids party game can be adapted to any lesson!

A wrapped gift is passed from child to child until the music stops. The child holding the gift unwraps it and finds instructions written on a card. The child completes the action and then the music starts again. This is repeated until a final wrapped prize is revealed.

Keep this simple and inexpensive and you will use it over and over.

Materials:

1. Action cards
2. A prize. This can be a candy bar, bookmark or an inexpensive toy.
3. Wrapping paper. Any scrap paper will do. Boxes aren't needed. Try used wrapping paper, newspaper, grocery bags, or even paper towels or toilet paper!
4. Tape
5. Music or someone to sing

Preparation:

1. Make "action cards" by writing various review questions, applications and instructions on cards or paper and cut them out.
2. Wrap the prize with wrapping paper.
3. Tape one of the action cards on the wrapping paper and then wrap it all again.
4. Keep repeating this again and again so there is a parcel within a parcel within a parcel... It can also be fun to include a small lollie/candy in some of the layers of wrapping paper.

Instructions:

1. Children sit in a circle or around a table.
2. The teacher or appointed person will play music or sing while the children pass the parcel around the circle. When the music stops, the child holding the parcel unwraps the first layer of paper and then follows the instructions written on the card. (If you placed a lollie/candy in that layer then the child gets to have it too).

3. Once the child has completed the action, the music begins again and the parcel is passed around the circle again. When the music stops, the child holding it opens the next layer of paper and follows the instructions on that card. Repeat these steps until one child finally unwraps the last one and receives the prize.
